Assistance for U.S. Companies Impacted by Import Competition

Is it becoming more difficult for your company to compete in the global marketplace? Have your sales or production declined due, in part, to competition from imports? Has foreign competition caused you to lay off employees or reduce work hours?

If you answered “yes” to any of these questions, your company could be eligible for up to $75,000 of federal matching grant funding to help it remain viable and competitive in the global marketplace. We will also prepare the application free of charge.

Since 1984, the Northwest Trade Adjustment Assistance Center (NWTAAAC) has assisted manufacturing, agricultural and seafood companies in Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon grow and increase their profitability. Service industry firms are also now eligible for this federal grant.

We provide federal funding, technical expertise and planning assistance to aid qualifying companies in making the necessary strategic changes in order to remain competitive with cheaper imported products. Through our history, we have helped hundreds of firms adjust to changing markets.
